Cosumnes River College

A three-day celebration of philanthropy and non-profit enterprises in our community

On behalf of the Social Responsibility Committee, thank you for your campus-wide support of the fourth-annual SHAREfair.

During this event, we collected:

- 155 cans, 11 boxes of cereal
- 2 bags of adults' clothing, 2 bags of sweats, and 4 bags of children's clothing and shoes
- 158 stuffed animals and 75 toys
- 1 bag of ponchos and umbrellas
- more than one-hundred diapers
- 288 pencils (the group only requested 250), four packs and a case of paper
- hundreds and hundreds of soaps, shampoos, lotions, and dental hygiene items.

This was our best year yet in every area (except canned food items), and we are sincerely impressed by the spirit of giving at CRC.

This three-day event dedicated to promoting philanthropy and civic engagement would not be possible without the help of the following folks:

President Debbie Travis, Dean Ginny McReynolds and Claudia Leal in the Humanities and Social Science Division Office, Colette Harris-Mathews and her outstanding and helpful students, Maria Hyde and Sabrina Guidi and the Bookstore Staff, Jeff Caponera and the Cafeteria Staff, Karena Benskin and Students in Free Enterprise, Grace Corpuz and all of the fantastic folks in Facilities, Duplicating, Operations, Captain

Sears and Campus Police, Distance Education and Media Services, Public Information Office, the Child Development Center, and the Reading and Writing Center. Moreover, thanks to: David Cioran, Paras Chauhan (PC), Nageena Khan, Sean Embry, Anca Coman, Alyssa Kanenaga, Taylor Osborne, Kristen Yee, Nguyen Tran, Aaron Lue, Edgar Bonifacio, Kirsten Kennedy, and James Tillman.

We are also grateful to our panelists:

Dennis Hock of Francis House, Bruce Ivy of Center Point, Inc., Gregory King of Always Knocking, Inc., Karena Benskin of Students in Free Enterprise, Sabrina Garcia of Make Beats Not Beat Downs, Kimberly Sakamoto of Community Health Charities of California, Jan Bernard of

Roberts Family Development Center, Jeanne Edman of Peace Corps, Delita Alvarado of National Council on Alcohol and Drug Dependence, Mandy Taylor of WEAVE, Laura Rios of HAVEs, Nilda Valmores and L "Rico" Ozaki of My Sister's House, Annie Hassid of Wellspring Women's Center.

We know many people contributed items to this event; thank you. We also want to give a special shout out to Amanda Wolcott Paskey for engaging her moms group in collecting stuffed animals and toys and Sandra Wheeler Abeyta's Small Group Discussion class for contributing to the request for office supplies.

More thanks to: Cath Hooper, Sandra Carter, Lisa Marchand, Teresa Aldredge, and Maureen Moore for sending classes to the Fair and/or coming to the panel. Thanks to each of you who helped spread the word and incentivized participation.

Finally, three cheers for all of the community leaders who shared their time with us during Thursday's fair. They are listed on the attached directory. If you missed them out at the SHAREfair, please use this information to contact them on your own.

It is a sincere honor and privilege to be a part of this inspiring and generous community. Thank you!
