The first FutureFair event will be held at Cosumnes River College March 17 from 10:30 am to 1:30 pm in the Quad. This is an opportunity for CRC students to make great career connections, and to obtain excellent advice and insight into career opportunities and paths.

Students will have the opportunity to network with 50-60 expected regional businesses, clinics, schools and agencies who will be there to mentor students - answering questions about career opportunities, to tell their personal career stories, and to recruit for any volunteer, internship and/or employment opportunities.

Co-sponsored by Brandman/Chapman University, the FutureFair is set up as a "career fair" with businesses and agencies set up to present and promote their programs. There will also be an interview preparation station and resume' station for representatives who wish to volunteer to help students learn about how to interview and build a resume'.

Throughout the event, there will be speakers who will talk about their particular business or career, including Capitol Public Radio's Senior Producer for Insight, Jen Picard and KCRA reporter Leticia Ordaz.

For additional information on this event, please contact Mitch Darnell at (916) 247.1655 or via email at: ForeverInspired@surewest.net. This event is free to the public.

Cosumnes River College is part of the Los Rios Community College District.
