Faculty Highlights

- English Professor Emmanuel Sigauke has written a story for and edited a collection of fiction. It's called African Roar and it is a collection of stories from various African writers across the continent. Emmanuel said in his description of the book: "Reading the submissions, I was constantly reminded of the magnitude of creative talent that the writers displayed through their works." - History Professor Mathilde Mukantabana and the FORA (Friends of Rwanda Association), along with actor George Clooney, were recently awarded The Global Peacemaker Award for 2010 by Global Majority. Read more on www.globalmajority.net. The award ceremony takes place in Monterey on Sunday, November 14th.

SCC Psychology Professor Dr. Lisa Gunderson was a highlight at Convocation, where she spoke on learning styles of the different generations.

Student Highlights

- Two more Construction Management students who completed our Weatherization program were just hired by E3 NorCal. They are Ted Phiffer and Kristen Dockler. Both students were HERS certified in June. Tommy Young, the Founder and President of E3 NorCal said in a recent letter: "Your Green Building program is providing crucial training that has been lacking in the Energy Auditing field; namely, competent and enthusiastic students with more than a basic grasp of energy fundamentals and hands-on training. Your program is giving these future workers 18 weeks of solid Building Science, whereas the current standard is as little as 2-4 days of lecture and an open book test. For this, you and the entire Los Rios Community College District are to be commended for your foresight in developing a strong, science based curriculum that will turn out fundamentally sound Energy Auditors and trainees."
