

Program SLOs

Communication Studies

A.A. Degree – Communication, Organizational Communication

Certificate of Proficiency – Applied Communication Skills

Communication Studies Program Student Learning Outcomes From the 2005 PrOF (Program Review)

P-SLO 1 Express and convey messages clearly for effective oral communication.

P-SLO 2 Demonstrate effective listening skills to comprehend spoken messages, analyze information critically, and consider multiple perspectives.

P-SLO 3 Express ideas clearly in well-organized written messages.

P-SLO 4 Demonstrate analytical and critical thinking within spoken and written messages.

P-SLO 5 Examine and apply ethical principles and interpersonal skills within relationships for the well being of social and civic responsibilities.

P-SLO 6 Identify and appraise the social science of communication studies that focus on messages within human interaction and factors that affect cultural patterns and organizational structures.

A.A. – Organizational Communication Student Learning Outcomes*

SLO 1 Design and relate messages clearly for effective and appropriate oral communication.

SLO 2 Apply effective listening skills to comprehend spoken messages, analyze information critically and consider multiple perspectives.

SLO 3 Compose ideas clearly in effective, appropriate and well-organized written messages.

SLO 4 Assess individual responsibility within one's ability to influence ethical, effective and appropriate communication among diverse settings and people.

SLO 5 Assess individual responsibility within one's ability to influence ethical, effective and appropriate communication among diverse settings and people.

SLO 6 Define and identify various theoretical perspectives across the discipline of communication studies.

Certificate – Applied Communication Skills Student Learning Outcomes*

SLO 1 Design and relate messages clearly for effective and appropriate oral communication .

SLO 2 Apply effective listening skills to comprehend spoken messages, analyze information critically and consider multiple perspectives.

SLO 3 Compose ideas clearly in effective, appropriate and well-organized written messages.

SLO 4 Assess individual responsibility within one's ability to influence ethical, effective and appropriate communication among diverse settings and people.

*Developed through the Curriculum Committee approval process