the students’ prior knowledge can be used as a powerful tool for critical engagement. This is an opportunity to critically analyze culturally relevant material in an effort to build a stronger foundation of critical engagement in the classroom. Facilitated by Andres Rodriguez and BJ Snowden.

Thursday, February 3
Fostering Engagement in the Classroom Part 1
12:00-1:00pm LRC125
A continuing challenge in today’s educational system is how to approach the various learning styles students possess. This series of presentations will present multiple strategies and tools for instructors analyzing how popular culture and bringing in

---

CASSL Workshops

Wednesday, January 26
Podcasting & Working with Hybrid Curriculum
9:00-10:00am LRC121
Have you been hearing about podcasting and wondering what it is and how you might use it in your classroom? In this workshop you will find, listen to and subscribe to a variety of student and professional produced podcasts. We’ll use iTunes and Garage Band to demonstrate how to create, edit and post podcasts. Facilitator: BJ Snowden

Thursday, February 10
Webinar: Teaching Students How to Learn
3:00-5:00pm LRC125
This webinar is designed to help faculty and student services personnel develop strategies to help students become independent, self-directed learners. A discussion of the characteristics of today’s students will help participants understand why many students lack effective learning strategies when they enroll in college, and how simple it is to teach them strategies for successful learning. The session will provide a variety of strategies that have proven successful in helping students experience meaningful, transferable learning.

Friday, February 11

Bridging the Gaps with African American Students—Part 1
10:30am-12:00noon LRC125
Please join CASSL as we create open dialogue about issues that currently face African American Students regarding academic success, matriculation, and the social maturity. Facilitated by: BJ Snowden

Wednesday, February 16

Turning Grading into Assessment
2:30-4:00pm LRC125
Assessing whether your program’s student learning outcomes are being met shouldn’t require you to reinvent the wheel. This presentation will show ways to take your current grading processes and procedures and turn them into the required documentation for Program Level Assessment. Facilitated by: Gary Martin and Jeanne Edman

Thursday, February 24

CC&E Funding for Campus Cultural Events
12:00-1:00pm LRC122
The CRC administrative team and the Cultural Competence and Equity Committee acknowledge that the successful coordination of a cultural event is very time consuming and requires a variety of skills (such as organization, time management, project management, meeting organization and planning, etc.). It also requires knowledge of campus processes, procedures and organization structures. CASSL will be providing support in producing a cultural event and invites you to learn more about the Cultural Competence and Equity Committee funding process for cultural event celebrations. Facilitated by: BJ Snowden

Thursday, March 3

Fostering Engagement in the Classroom Part 2
12:00-1:00pm L313
This series of presentations will present multiple strategies and tools for instructors analyzing how popular culture and bringing in the students’ prior knowledge can be used as a powerful tool for critical engagement. This is an opportunity to critically analyze culturally relevant material in an effort to build a stronger foundation of critical engagement in the classroom. Facilitated by: Andres Rodriguez and BJ Snowden

Friday, March 4

Helping Students Understand Proper Citation
12:00-1:00pm LRC125
This workshop outlines proper MLA citation methods and reviews student learning outcomes on research and citation for each of the composition courses offered at CRC. Facilitated by: David Weinshilboum, Emmanuel Sigauke and Andi Adkins Pogue.

Friday, March 18

Using You-Tube in the Classroom
12:00-1:00pm LRC125
Have you been hearing about You Tube and wondering what it is and how you might use it in your classroom? In this workshop, you will find, watch and discuss a variety of possibilities for using video from the internet in your teaching. Facilitated by: BJ Snowden

Thursday, April 7

Fostering Engagement in the Classroom Part 3
12:00-1:00pm LRC125
This series of presentations will present multiple strategies and tools for instructors analyzing how popular culture and bringing in the students’ prior knowledge can be used as a powerful tool for critical engagement. Facilitated by: Andres Rodriguez and BJ Snowden
CASSL WORKSHOPS—CONTINUED

Friday, April 22
Bridging the Gaps with African American Students—Followup
10:00am-12:00noon LRC125
Please join CASSL as we hold a follow-up dialogue about issues that currently face African American Students regarding academic success, matriculation, and the social maturity.
Facilitated by: BJ Snowden

Wednesday, May 4
Fostering Engagement in the Classroom Part 4
12:00-1:00pm LRC125
This series of presentations will present multiple strategies and tools for instructors analyzing how popular culture and bringing in the students’ prior knowledge can be used as a powerful tool for critical engagement. This is an opportunity to critically analyze culturally relevant material in an effort to build a stronger foundation of critical engagement in the classroom. Facilitated by: Andres Rodriguez and BJ Snowden

SLO ASSESSMENT & WRITING CLINICS IN LRC121

It’s easy to shift a small effort into big results when assessing your Student Learning Outcomes. Whether you’re starting a course assessment or working on the regular program-level assessment that’s reported every convocation, there are models to help you make this easier. Stop in for a two-hour individualized look at how to make your job with SLO writing, assessment and reporting as easy as possible. If times are inconvenient, e-mail Gary Martin to set up an appointment at your office.

Scheduled dates:
- Friday, Jan 21 @ 10-12
- Tuesday, Jan 25 @ 12-2
- Monday, Jan 31 @ 3-5
- Wednesday, Feb 2 @ 6-8p
- Thursday, Feb 10 @ 2-4

TECHNOLOGY Workshops through CASSL

CASSL will offer “On Demand” workshops on technology topics including:

- Creating Video Content
- Basic Excel Spreadsheets
- MS Publisher
- Managing your E-mail
- Email Merges
- Making Labels
- Importing Graphics
- Backing-up your info
- Call x7303 to make an appointment.