Georgine Hodgkinson Publishes Article in Academic Journal

Communications Professor Georgine Hodgkinson recently had an article published in the academic journal, Departures in Critical Qualitative Research. The article title is “Searching for the Divine: Autoethnographic Reflections on Ashram Life.” It is one of the pieces she wrote as a result of my sabbatical in India. Departures in Critical Qualitative Research (formerly Qualitative Communication Research) publishes innovative, experimental, aesthetic, and provocative works on the theories, practices, and possibilities of critical qualitative research. Departures is a forum for scholars in diverse disciplines to converse on, contest, and creatively reimagine the form, purpose, and mission of their work.

Veterans Resource Center Announces Open House

On Monday, Feb 2nd, the Veteran’s Resource Center will be having an open house for faculty and student veterans. They will be there from 9am until 4pm. All faculty are welcome to drop by, say hello and meet some of our student veterans who work in and use the space. Student veterans are also invited to come in and see what resources are currently being offered in the center.

See you there!

Foundation Sponsors Textbook Scholarship Drawing

Congratulations to all the winners of the Textbook Scholarship Drawing. This semester, 879 students signed up. The Drawing is sponsored by the CRC Foundation, which awarded 26 $300 gift cards to the CRC Store.
The Los Rios Police Department presented a self-defense demonstration by Beda Brazilian Jiu Jitsu. CRC students and staff learned about the RAD (rape, aggression, defense) training.

Instructor Pat Rogan participated in the CPA Day at the Capitol in 1/21 meeting with legislators on matters affecting CPAs and our accounting students.

Club Rush! Welcome Back to CRC!